Delayed start scheduled for kindergarten students

By BRENDA HEATHCOCK
Kindergarten students in Bay St. Louis School District will be able to avoid first-day confusion by coming to school later than other students.

Superintendent Roger Oge reported Bay area kindergarten students will start school on Aug. 26 and 27 instead of Aug. 25 when all other students will attend.

"The first day of school is the most confusing, disorganized day of the school year," according to Oge.

"We know how vitally important a child's very first experience with school is, and we are doing everything possible to make that first day as positive as we can," he added.

"We want the kindergarten students to begin school in a more settled environment," Oge said.

In addition to delaying the kindergarten students' first day, they will also attend on a staggered schedule.

Kindergarten students with last names starting with A through L will start school Aug. 26 and those with names starting with M through Z on Aug. 27.

The students will attend on the day indicated by the first letter of their last name.

"For the most part, attending kindergarten will be the very first experience with any kind of public institution for the students where only one or two people will be in charge of a very large number of children," Oge said.

Using the staggered scheduled, kindergarten students will be walking into the classroom and seeing only 12 unfamiliar faces instead of 24, he added.

"Hence the very first day of school can be almost like a family setting and teachers will have more time to deal with the individual problems that will be unique to the first day of school," Oge said.

A kindergarten student's classroom activities will be in a different unit each week with September's units to include the family, the state of Mississippi, transportation and shapes.

The various activities planned during the week will all relate to the unit.

Another activity planned for September will be the celebration of Grandparents' Day. As a part of the celebration, students will be able to invite their grandparents or a special person to spend the day with them at school.

Fifth grade center opens Monday

Preparations for students taking shape at St. Rose

By DENA BISNETTE
Preparations for fifth graders who will be attending St. Rose de Lima fifth grade center Monday are continuing.

Fifth graders will attend their first day from 8:30 a.m. to 2:45 p.m., but beginning Tuesday the schedule will be 8 a.m. to 2:15 p.m. as it is in the rest of the Bay St. Louis Municipal Separate School District, Principal Roger James said.

James, who is based at North Bay Elementary School, said three buses will leave the center at 2:20 p.m. each day.

"The buses will stop at Waveland Elementary School in order to allow younger children in the same families to arrive home about the same time as older brothers and sisters who attend the fifth grade center.

At the center, the children will be under the charge of Dr. Betty Ann Jones, who serves as coordinator for Chapter I remedial reading and math programs as well as assistant principal at St. Rose.

Jones said about 170 students are expected to attend the center. Those students will be divided into groups that will utilize four large classrooms and two smaller ones that the school district has leased from St. Rose de Lima Parish for $23,000 for 10 months.

The lease was finalized at a special meeting Wednesday night.

Betty Ann Jones

School Board Attorney Lucien Gex said.

In order that students need not be transported or change classrooms for various subjects, the teachers at the center will go from classroom to classroom, and in some cases, from school to school.

The teachers serving the fifth grade center will include Ollie Oliver, social studies; Audrey Malone, math; Dennis Barcelona, physical education and health; Paula Dixon, reading; Linda Turner, science; and Howard Shepard, music.

Arrangements were still being made for an English teacher Friday, James said.

Roger James

In addition, other teachers will visit the center during the day to provide services to gifted and special education students.

Those teachers include Betty Ashe, a speech teacher, and Barbara Dedeaux, a special education teacher who works with students who have learning disabilities.

Students will be served in the cafeteria at St. Rose beginning Monday.

Leads in murder investigation sought

By ELLIS CUEVAS
The investigation of Tuesday's brutal murder of Pearlington resident Mrs. Eldora Summers continues to be led by Hancock County Sheriff Ronald Peterson.

The investigation which began Tuesday afternoon has been conducted night and day, Peterson said Saturday.

"A partial report received from the Mississippi Crime Lab in Jackson on evidence sent from the scene did not help in the investigation. It is hoped we will receive a report on the balance of materials by Tuesday and this may lead to a suspect," Peterson stated.

On Saturday, the shock of residents could still be felt from the residents of the Western Hancock County community.

The sheriff stated, "The cooperation of everyone has been excellent, as we have talked to over 100 persons, some more than once."

The sheriff continued, "The only problem are the many rumors going around the community and they are not helping the situation. Because we talk to some, that does not mean they are necessarily a suspect."

"In an investigation like this, you have to talk to many people to try and find some bit of information which could possibly lead to a suspect," Peterson allowed.

Hundreds of citizens attended funeral services for the community leader on Thursday at the First Southern Baptist Church in Pearlington, which was followed by burial in the Logtwin Cemetery.

Mrs. Summers and her late husband Thomas Forrest Summers, who was gunned down on August 31, 1973 in a robbery attempt, operated Summers Grocery in Pearlington for many years.

Mrs. Summers, a store clerk and a female customer witnessed her husband's murder.

Hancock County Medical Investigator Harold Stiglet said an autopsy report shows Mrs. Summers death was due to exsanguination caused by multiple stab wounds to the face, neck and upper back.

Peterson indicated his department would continue the investigation, no matter how long, until exhaust every possible means is exhausted.

Investigators are still trying to establish some type of motive in the murder and are seeking any information possible.

Her body was found Tuesday by a step-grandchild and two friends in a pool of blood at her Sixth Street residence.

A knife was found near the victim's body is believed to have been the weapon used, according to Sheriff Peterson.

Peterson said, "I have personally known the Summers family a very long time. As a matter of fact, her son Thomas and I played together on the football squad and graduated the same year from Bay High School."

Among those participating in the investigation are Peterson, Hancock Criminal Investigators Alvin Ladner, Delbert Seay and Glen Strong, and Hancock County Sheriff's Deputies Joe Pica, Tommy Powell, Willie Lee and Ronnie Cuevas.

Also at the scene Tuesday were Stiglet and Jim Odum, Hancock County deputy medical examiner.

New teachers to wait five weeks for pay

By BRENDA HEATHCOCK
New teachers in the Bay area and county school districts may not get a paycheck until the end of September.

New teachers employed in the district may be paid only if they have worked more than 10 days in the month, according to John Hartman of the Mississippi School Board Association.

Hartman also said a recent attorney general's opinion indicates that only days when both teachers and students are in school may be counted in this number.

This means that approximately 35 new teachers employed in the Bay St. Louis Municipal and Hancock County school districts may have to wait until September to be paid.

Hartman relayed this information from the recently passed Uniform School Law to members of the Gulf Coast School Board Association at their quarterly meeting Thursday at Hancock North Central High School.

Although much of the law does not go into effect until July 1987, the section stating new teachers cannot be paid until September unless they have worked 10 school days is applicable now, Hartman said.

Bay Assistant-Superintendent Robert Magee said Friday he believed that Bay teachers were going to be paid.

School Board Attorney Lucien Gex said he was currently reviewing the new Uniform School Law for a way to be able to pay the new teachers at the end of this month.

Hancock County School Superintendent Terrell Randolph was unavailable for comment.

Pearlington residents mourn the death of Eldora Summers

By BRENDA HEATHCOCK
As law enforcement officers continue to seek suspects in connection with the brutal killing of Mrs. Eldora Summers, a community mourns.

Mrs. Summers, described as the "best woman in town," was stabbed to death Tuesday, Aug. 19 in her Pearlington home.

"She was one of the last people you would think something like this would happen to," Diane Morrow said.

Mrs. Summers was known throughout the community for her kindness, generosity and willingness to do whatever she could to help others.

It was not uncommon for Mrs. Summers to unload her kitchen cabinets for someone when she knew they needed food and frequently gave people money to buy medicine, Morrow added.

"She was a very caring person and her death has devastated the community," Andrea Coote said.

Coote, who has known Mrs. Summers all her life, calls the incident a disaster in the community.

"Her death has left the community in a state of shock," said Ronnie Cuevas, Pearlington businessman.

In addition to the shock that has rocked the community, there is also fear.

"People are scared to be alone in their houses now," Mary Hillhouse said.

Before this happened people in this community would go to bed at night or go to town and not bother locking the doors but not now, Morrow said.

"It really makes people afraid that something so cruel would happen to someone so good," she added.

"When you live alone and something like this happens it makes you afraid it will happen to you," another Pearlington resident said.

This incident has reportedly led several of Pearlington's residents who live alone to temporarily relocate with friends and relatives.

Pearlington native L. J. Dunaway said he has walked the roads of this community all his life but now he is a "little afraid."

Bill Doyle said it is horrible to know that there might be someone around here who would do it again.

Area law enforcement officials are continuing an "around the clock investigation" into Mrs. Summers death. No suspects have been arrested at this time.

Ole Miss names law dean

Thomas A. Edmonds, dean of the law school at the University of Richmond in Virginia, has accepted a nomination to become dean of law at The University of Mississippi, according to Chancellor Gerald Turner.

Edmonds, 48, has been dean of the T. C. Williams School of Law at Richmond for the past nine years. Earlier, he was professor and associate dean of law at Florida State University for seven years and an associate professor of law at Ole Miss from 1966-70.

The appointment is subject to approval by the Board of Trustees of State Institutions of Higher Learning at its August meeting.

With State College Board approval, Dean Edmonds will begin his new duties Jan. 1. Chancellor Turner said the delay is due to his professional obligations at Richmond and the fact that a son is completing high school there.

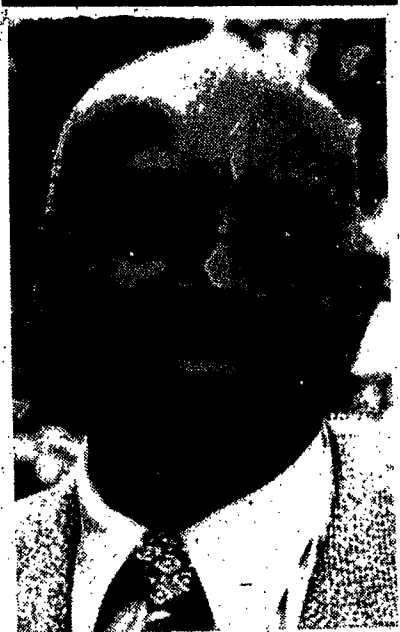

Edmonds is a native of Jackson and graduated from Murrah High School there in 1956, earned a bachelor's degree with special distinction in history and political science at Mississippi College in 1962 and received a law degree from Duke University in 1965.

During his tenure at Richmond, the law school launched a successful

$1.8 million capital campaign, expanded student financial aid by more than 300 percent and experienced an increase in alumni giving from 17 percent to 60 percent during Edmonds' nine years at the helm.

Edmonds is married to the former Martha Clay, a Louisville native who graduated from Jackson's Central High School. They have three children.

City agrees to accept $54,800

Waveland agrees with county on maintenance fund decision

BY DENA BISNETTE

The Waveland Board of Aldermen has gone on record with the city's intention to cooperate with a county decision to return a full share of road and bridge maintenance funds to Bay St. Louis and Waveland.

The city board is also interested in taking over jurisdiction of Beach Boulevard within the Waveland city limits.

The Hancock County Board of Supervisors reaffirmed its decision to return the funds to the cities in a split vote Aug. 14, with Beat Three Supervisor Roger Dale Ladner and Beat Four Supervisor Sam Periniaro voting against the move.

Under the proposal, Waveland will receive an estimated $54,800 in road and bridge maintenance funds collected as county taxes from city residents.

In the past, roughly half the funds collected in the cities have been returned to the cities directly through the county tax collector's office.

The other half is usually returned as in-kind services, which include various types of road and bridge maintenance but does not include lending of equipment.

The Bay St. Louis City Council had adopted a resolution, which the supervisors rejected on Aug. 14, requesting that the matter be tabled for one year.

The Waveland Board of Aldermen, however, has addressed the matter differently.

In an informal discussion following the aldermen's Aug. 5 meeting, the aldermen said more information on the amount of money and services involved was needed but that they agreed with the idea of allowing the cities to manage the funds.

On Wednesday, Mayor John Longo Jr. asked that the aldermen go on record with Waveland's acceptance of the funds.

Ladner had argued that the supervisors' resolution, which originally passed on a split vote on Aug. 4, had been contingent upon cooperation by the cities.

His opposition came from Board President A.A. Kellar, who allowed a reading of the pertinent section of the resolution and then called for a vote without discussion of whether the contingency applied.

The aldermen also agreed to request negotiations with the county concerning jurisdiction over Beach Boulevard.

The supervisors had retained jurisdiction over that road, the sand beach and seawall funds.

Longo said that with a share of the funding and some long-range planning Waveland is capable of improving the beach road and possibly carrying out some improvements on the sand beach and seawall.

In other business, the aldermen:

—Declared St. Joseph Street one-way toward Beach Boulevard from the Bourgeois Street intersection;

—Approved the use of the Waveland Civic Center Field by Bay Area Youth Soccer Inc.;

—Approved a request for street lights on Old Gainesville Road; and —Set a special meeting on the 1986-87 budget for 6:30 p.m. Thursday.

The board's next regular meeting is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. Sept. 2.

Bay council to consider hospital-clinic zoning

BY DENA BISNETTE

The Bay St. Louis City Council has called a special meeting at 5:30 p.m. Tuesday to consider a new type of zoning in the area surrounding Hancock Medical Center.

The new type of zoning, known as hospital-clinic district or HC-1, allows hospitals, medical doctors' offices or clinics, dental doctors' offices or clinics, chiropractic offices or clinics, psychiatric or psychological offices or clinics, medical or dental laboratories and any uses presently allowed in residential districts.

The new zoning classification was added to the city's zoning ordinance during a joint meeting of the council and the city planning and zoning board Thursday.

Adding the hospital-clinic zoning to the ordinance only makes it possible for the city to consider rezoning the residential area near Hancock Medical Center.

Thursday's action did not result in any actual rezoning.

Vandalism clean-up to cost taxpayers

BY DENA BISNETTE

Vandals who painted their opinions on Bay St. Louis City Hall and destroyed flower beds on the grounds cost the city's taxpayers for clean-up and repair work.

City Clerk Edward Favre said Friday afternoon that he did not yet have a complete estimate on the cost, but that it would be "several hundred dollars" for one totally destroyed flower bed alone.

The money will have to come from city funds that might have been used for something else, he added.

Most of the painted vandalism, which consisted of derogatory statements about Mayor Victor Frankiewicz Jr., had been cleaned up by 9 a.m. Thursday morning.

The incident apparently occurred late Wednesday night or early Thursday morning and was discovered by city hall employees reporting to work.

City workers had to wash paint off the white columns on the front of the building, a granite monument and several signs in the parking area. The signs were bent as well and two may have to be replaced. They cost about $25 each.

Another wall, which is brick, may have to be sandblasted to remove blue paint.

Favre said most of the paint was on surfaces where it could be easily removed, like windows, or painted over, such as on the door or columns.

Some of it, however, was hard for workers to reach because the vandal who painted the front of the building apparently leaned over the second story porch railing and had someone else hold onto him to keep him from falling, Favre added.

Later Thursday, several vandalized Neighborhood Watch signs were found on Main Street, Felicite Street and Dunbar Avenue.

Favre said those signs are "significantly more expensive" than the city parking lot signs, but the city can not pay for the Neighborhood Watch signs because they were purchased and posted by private citizens.

The Bay St. Louis Police Department is still investigating the incident.

Quotables by CUEVAS

The residents of the Hancock County community Pearlinton are shocked at Tuesday's stabbing death of Mrs. Eldora Summers.

I have never in my lifetime heard of a lady being praised as much for her good works in Pearlinton.

Many years I delivered newspapers to the store owned by Mr. and Mrs. Summers, and I can remember the wonderful way I was always treated on my stop at their business place.

I could see the way their customers were all treated and felt the Summers' sincere concern for the well being of each and everyone.

I can recall August 1973, when Mr. Thomas Forrest Summers was gunned down in the store and the shocked feeling of Pearlinton at that time, too.

As a widow, Mrs. Summers did not give up on mankind, but continued to help her fellowman, especially the youngsters, elderly and sick.

There are not too many people today who can be described as a 'pillar of their church', as a Pearlinton businessman called her.

How many folks do you know who hold a backyard Bible School for neighborhood children, open to everyone, white and black, whoever wants to come?

In addition, take children to the beach, park, shopping, and showing them there is someone who is really concerned with their welfare.

She had time to run errands for anyone in need of food or medicine, and the list can go on and on.

The good works of Mrs. Summers will long be remembered in Pearlinton, and the shock of her murder will be heavy on the hearts of the community's residents.

I would like to say to her family and friends, there are not enough praises which can be offered for Mrs. Eldora Summers. Her legend will continue for many years to come.

Governor's Report

GOVERNMENT, BUSINESSES JOIN INFANT MORTALITY FIGHT

I recently had the pleasure of hosting The Governor's Infant Mortality Seminar in Jackson, as a cooperative effort of the March of Dimes Birth Defects Foundation, the Southern Governors' Association and the Southern Legislative. This one-day session marked the first concerted effort to bring government and business together to plan ways to cooperate in continuing to reduce our state's infant mortality rate.

The conference was very successful with a turnout that included top business people from across the state and many legislative leaders. The conference has already accomplished one of our major goals—to bring a greater public awareness to the seriousness of infant mortality and of its causes. Obviously, if we can help more babies in our state survive birth and the first year of life, we will have more productive citizens in the future.

We in Mississippi are already making efforts to reduce the mortality rates of our babies. We changed our Medicaid system in Mississippi to bring more medical care to pregnant women. Better access to early health care increases the chances of having a healthy baby.

Education of the mothers is another factor in infant mortality. Our state's efforts at adult literacy and at decreasing the dropout rate is helping reduce our infant mortality rate. Many teenage mothers get pregnant because they don't know any better.

Experts attending the conference told us that 80 percent of the mothers who drop out due to pregnancy do not return to school, and their earning power is one-half of those who graduate from high school. Some 31 percent of the mothers currently on welfare had their first baby as teenagers.

We want better health care and education for these potential young mothers. Many of the cooperative efforts in government are working, as evidenced by a 5 percent drop in Mississippi's infant mortality rate this year. Today 29 more babies are alive because of greater state efforts and focused on this problem. We are hopeful that these statistics will get even better with more corporate involvement in health care for mothers and babies. Businesses are sponsoring health care programs because they have learned that 60 percent of the pregnant women work at some time during their pregnancies.

If we can all work to spend dollars combating this problem before birth, we will spend less dollars after birth.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

If it concerns you, it concerns us

No jobs for senior citizens?

August 20, 1986
Gentlemen:

I read the Sea Coast Echo and the Sun Herald faithfully, especially letters to the editor.

I realize the economy is bad all over but we moved to Mississippi with encouragement from family and friends, also from articles in the news media.

Now, Illinois is trying to deny me unemployment compensation which I am entitled to after working six years in a Community Action Agency.

Because I am on Social Security they are also trying to reduce the amount of benefits. Unemployment is state funded and Social Security is federally funded so how can they do this?

The funds were paid into the state coffers period. I have appealed to say the least. I filed on June 22, 1986 and still have received no check, why?

I go to Job Service and Unemployment on Tuesdays and I am amazed how few are at the Job Service office and the tremendous number at the Unemployment office.

I have appeared in person, phoned, and written letters to prospective employers and do not even get the courtesy of a reply by phone or letter. I am a retired nurse age 70 - at present my license is on inactive because they tell me that I must pick up 1.5 credit hours schooling and pay a $36 fee. I can afford neither. Books run from $25 to $125.

We are out every day, morning to night and come home depressed. I am a heart patient well controlled on medication. That does not take me off the job market. My daughter is a college graduate with a BA in geology and a minor in computer science. She did not work for six years while attending school. They turn her down or refuse to even read her resume because she does not have a current resume of recent jobs. Her job experience is prior to college. How can you get experience if you cannot get a job?

I have been on both sides of the welfare coin. Working in a government agency, I have dealt with the young poor, the "new" poor, and the senior citizens who are scared to death.

They don't buy food and medication but they do pay their rent and utilities. I hope I never end up in a nursing home, no one but no one gets anything for the $1200-$1400 monthly - bare minimum.

I hope it comes to the fact someday soon when families must take care of their own—putting these people out of business. We did it!! uncles, aunts, grandparents, great-grandparents, even children.

Sincerely,
Marjorie L. Dunkle

Is anybody listening to vandals?

August 22, 1986
Dear Editor:

The vandals in Bay St. Louis are trying to tell us something. Is anybody listening?

The message is not that we need a new mayor, but rather that we need more police to be on cruise—men trained to spot trouble and avert crime before it happens.

We need caring citizens, too; watchful citizens who are concerned with the protection of our society.

One defaced STOP sign could cause a fatal accident—or to put it another way, by reporting vandalism you could save a life.

The average citizen understandably doesn't want to "get involved." However, when duty calls we surely should.

Mississippi
Economic Council

SEARCHING FOR ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT ANSWERS

A steady stream of concerned Mississippians moved in and out of the chamber, all focusing on the state's problems related to economic advancement.

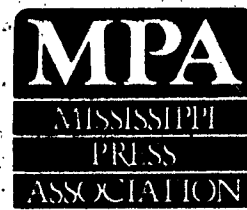

All expressed concern about the state of the economy, all expressed a willingness to aid in the search for a solution, and some offered specific suggestions for steps which they believe could help to provide an answer.

The group, from public and private sectors, were in the old Supreme Court Chamber of the State Capitol, there on invitation from the chairman of the Senate Finance Committee.

The chairman, Senator Bob Montgomery of Canton, has dedicated himself and his committee members to the search for solutions to Mississippi's economic development problems. His goal is to be prepared to ask the 1987 Legislature for actions designed to move Mississippi ahead economically.

Mississippians should be encouraged that the Senate Finance Committee has dedicated itself to this task. You can be sure the members of the committee will appreciate any suggestions any Mississippian has to offer in this significant struggle.

IN CONGRESS

By Cong. Trent Lott

Over the Independence Day District Work Period I have had the always refreshing experience of visiting throughout the Fifth Congressional District.

I went to McLain and New Augusta for town hall meetings and had occasions to spend some hours in Gulfport and Pascagoula meeting with individuals experiencing problems with the federal government. I met with Rotarians in Gulfport, realtors in Jackson County and had a delightful experience in Gautier when I spoke at the swearing-in ceremonies for the officials of the new City of Gautier. The citizens of Gautier are very optimistic over the future of their new city.

While in Mississippi, I am very interested in finding out your concerns, your problems and your views on what is happening in Washington. Most of the time, I really get an earful.

This trip I found that the same key issues are on many South Mississippians' minds and come up in almost every discussion. One of them is tax reform.

People are very interested in the outcome of a conference on the two very different tax reform packages passed by the House and the Senate. Tax reform is something that we need to try to get through the Congress.

The Senate bill is much better than the House-passed measure because it retains only two tax brackets of 27 and 15 percent and raises the personal exemption level to the full $2,000. I do think, however, that some changes will be made in the bill during conference. Some groups like the realtors raised some questions about the legislation's being retroactive and limiting or discouraging investment in the real estate area. While tax reform legislation can be improved in conference, it is an opportunity we should not let get by us. We need a fairer, simpler tax code, and I believe we will get it before the summer passes.

I also found that while South Mississippians are encouraged by the positive economic news nationwide, we still have too much unemployment in South Mississippi. It is imperative for us to find ways to create more jobs. I have been speaking with local, elected officials and business, industry and civic leaders to urge that we concentrate more of our efforts in that area. We are trying to find ways to improve our local communities to assist them in attracting industry.

Many folks have raised questions about education. We want to keep our young people in the state by providing quality educational opportunities and the promise of decent jobs for them once they finish school. Just the fact that people are raising these questions and concerns will help us move education forward.

Somewhat surprising to me were the number of questions raised about trade legislation and the need to reduce the trade deficit. As I return to Washington, I will be emphasizing to my colleagues in the Congress and to the Administration that we need to be doing more to force our trading partners to be fairer with us. If there is going to be "free trade," it must be free trade going both ways.

It is always a thrill to be at home with my family for the Fourth of July, and I found that the mood of the people in South Mississippi overall is upbeat. They feel that the future in Mississippi and in America is going to be a positive one with our people having great opportunities in the future. I certainly am committed to that goal.

JENNY WON'T BE HOME TONIGHT

Her father will be waiting up for her. But, unlike many times before, she won't dash in with reports of a wonderful evening. Her friends invited her to go riding after the party. She hesitated because the driver had been drinking, but what could she do? She needed a ride home. If only she could have called her parents.

Approximately 46 teenagers will be killed this year in Mississippi by drinking and driving or riding with someone who does. It's your choice.

Hinds officials sentenced in open meetings case

Five current and one former member of the Hinds County Board of Supervisors have become the first public officials in the state punished for violating the state's open meetings law.

The Jackson Clarion-Ledger reports Benton County Chancellor Anthony T. Farese sentenced the six men to perform a total of 680 hours of community service, with the Jackson Program for Adult Readers, which tutors illiterate adults.

Farese Monday also ordered current board members George Smith, Roger Stewart, Hershel Wilbourn, Bennie Thompson and Frank Bryan, and former Supervisor Walter Dennis, to be jailed and fined for ignoring the law. But he suspended those sentences, saying the supervisors did not act maliciously.

"The court concludes that the Board of Supervisors never intended to violate the consent decree and/or the Open Meetings Act," Farese said. "However, it appears to be the law that lack of intent is not, in and of itself, an escape of liability."

Monday's ruling capped a 2½-year-old lawsuit filed by Common Cause, a citizens' lobby group, and The Clarion-Ledger and Jackson Daily News challenging the board's compliance with the Open Meetings Act and adherence to a 1982 consent decree which settled a similar lawsuit filed by Common Cause.

Smith, Stewart and Wilbourn were ordered to perform 160 hours of community service work each at the Jackson Program for Adult Readers. They also were handed 30-day jail sentences and $500 fines, but those were suspended.

Thompson was ordered to spend 100 hours at the reading center, Farese suspended his 20-day jail term and $350 fine. Bryan and Dennis were ordered to perform 50 hours of community service. Bryan received a five-day sentence and $100 fine, and Dennis a seven-day jail term and $150 fine, all of which were suspended.

The suspended sentences could be invoked if any of the supervisors were found guilty of again violating the Open Meetings Act while in office.

In his ruling, Farese said the complexity of the Open Meetings Act causes confusion even among legal experts, the board, he said, could not be held criminally accountable for failing to fully comply with all of the law's requirements.

"It could hardly be expected that this board of supervisors, being laymen, would have the expertise to interpret and comprehend the full meaning of the language of the Open Meetings Act, when those with expertise were bogged down in a linguistic and legalistic quagmire," Farese said.

Farese also dissolved the May 10, 1982 consent decree. He called it a "noble act," but said it could cause conflicts with future state Supreme Court rulings that interpret the open meetings law.

The Open Meetings Act requires government agencies to conduct meetings in public except in certain situations listed in the law, such as discussions of litigation, acquisition of property or personnel matters.

A consent decree is a court order in which the parties negotiate an out-of-court settlement which is later approved by a judge.

Farese was appointed to preside over the lawsuit after Hinds County Chancellor Joe G. Moss stepped aside in June 1984, citing his professional and personal relationship with members of the Board of Supervisors.

While each side claimed victory in Monday's ruling, no one was completely satisfied. All the parties said they were contemplating appeals.

"We're gratified that the judge chose to re-emphasize that the Open Meetings Act means exactly what it says—that the public's business should be conducted in public," said John D. Johnson, executive editor of the newspapers.

"It's a shame that so much time and money had to be spent on both sides for a case that would have been unnecessary had the supervisors obeyed the law in the first place," Johnson said.

Smith, the board president said he was pleased on two fronts; that Farese's ruling found the supervisors innocent of intentional wrongdoing, and that the 1982 consent decree was lifted.

"We have a lot more discretion now," he said.

But Smith also said he was perplexed by Farese's ruling. "This decision is very confusing in that no violation was cited, and a suspended sentence rendered," he said.

Thompson, a consistent supporter of open government, said the decision could work against full observance of the open meetings law.

"It says to anyone in the minority on a board that you still have to suffer with the majority," Thompson said.

The imposition of sanctions against Thompson and Bryan drew the ire of those who filed the suit.

"The finding of civil contempt against the recalcitrant three — Smith, Stewart and Wilbourn — are welcome, as well as the sanctions imposed," said Charles Ramberg, attorney for Common Cause. "But Bennie Thompson and Frank Bryan are friends of open meetings who, as we see it, were primarily victims of bad legal advice from the board's attorney, and to penalize them is wrong."

Ramberg also criticized Farese's decision to vacate the 1982 consent decree.

"This means that if the supervisors do exactly the same things they have been found in contempt for today, they will no longer be in contempt, for there is no consent decree to violate," he said. "The reason the judge gave for vacating it is simply unsound."

JACKSON—"A Less Taxing Retirement," the goal of any older American, is also the title of a new film available free from the Internal Revenue Service.

Highlighting federal tax laws affecting retired individuals, the 28½ minute film is designed for showing to retirement and community groups.

"A Less Taxing Retirement" portrays a tax lawyer who moves to a small lakeside community when he retires and discovers that the Federal tax expertise is in demand among the retired townspeople.

Through the lawyer's interaction with his new neighbors, the viewer learns about Federal tax laws affecting pensions, IRAs, taxability of Social Security and tax benefits for older Americans.

Point of Law

(Prepared by the Mississippi State Bar. Some legal rights may vary from locality to locality. Always consult an attorney when in doubt about your rights.)

Q: What recourse does an individual have whose checkbook has been stolen and checks were forged on his account?

A: As the bank's customer, the individual has the right to require the bank to recredit his account with the amount of the forged checks.

A bank generally cannot charge its customer's account for checks that were not written by the customer.

There are some exceptions. A customer has a duty to examine any statements and cancelled checks sent to him by the bank.

If the customer does not examine a statement and therefore fails to discover a forged check, and the same person later forges another check on his account, the customer may not be able to recover from the bank. If the customer had examined the statement and informed the bank of the first forgery, the bank would have been alerted to watch for other forgeries by the same person.

Port Bienville Railroad's number one engine, the "Little Donkey," gets lifted onto a truck for trip to new owners.

Port commission makes good deal on locomotives

By BRENDA HEATHCOCK
The "Little Donkey" made its last run at the Port Bienville Industrial Park.

Fondly called the "Little Donkey" by Port and Harbor employees, the 45-ton electric diesel locomotive was recently replaced by 100-ton locomotives needed to handle the increased railroad traffic.

Port and Harbor Commission Director Jimmy DeBlanc said railroad traffic doubled during the last year and similar growth is expected to continue through this year. Earlier this year the commission decided to purchase a larger locomotive and use the small one as a backup.

When the bids were received in April the commission found an offer not only a single larger locomotive but for three engines for $45,000.

The next lowest bid was $58,000 for a single engine.

The commission took the lowest bid and purchased "three good used" 100-ton locomotives from a short line railroad in Columbus.

DeBlanc said he believed the engines were in such good shape because the company which had previously owned the engines had their own maintenance shop and had really taken good care of the engines.

Of the $45,000 purchase price, the commission has already recouped all but approximately $8,000 through the sales of the small locomotive and one of the larger locomotives.

The large locomotive was sold to Marshall Durbin in Waynesboro for $25,000 and the small one was sold for $12,069 to the South Mississippi Electric Power Association in Hattiesburg.

day, although the food will be prepared at one of the other nearby schools.

The kitchen at the center will be used as soon as additional equipment is available.

Gex said the district has arranged to lease some equipment from St. Rose parish and the federally funded Headstart program, which will share the building with the fifth graders.

Bids were accepted on the remaining equipment Wednesday, Gex reported.

Chapter I services typically do not get underway until two to three weeks into the school year because students must be tested and new eligibility lists compiled, Jones said.

Until that program is underway, some of the Chapter I aids will be available to assist teachers in other subject areas.

Physical education equipment was being moved in over the weekend in order that the children at the center can be provided a well-organized program.

In addition, library services will be satellite to the center from the other schools.

"I'm excited, but somewhat apprehensive because I would have liked to have more time to prepare. I think the center can really be a family and an great opportunity for these children once they get over the change," Jones said.

"The St. Rose facilities, especially for the North Bay children who had to go outside to change classes, will be better for poor weather conditions. The coats can come off for the school day," she added.

"The move will be no disadvantage to the Waveland children, who will at least have the same advantages. They may have more of an advantage because we can allow more flexibility with a smaller number of students."

She said the move is expected to be no more difficult for the children than moving to Bay Junior High School at the beginning of sixth grade. The move to the fifth grade center may even be good preparation for when that move occurs next year.

"We want one of our goals to be for the children who are uncomfortable with the change to work through it with our support and parental support," Jones added.

Jones said parents are invited to call or visit St. Rose center if they have questions or comments.

LIBRARY CLOSED—Waveland city employee gathers portions of the Waveland Library ceiling which fell after the facility's roof leaked during thundershowers Friday morning. The roof was in the process of being repaired by the city when the showers came. County Librarian Prima Wusnack said the Waveland Library will remain closed until further notice. Books may be returned to an outside depository in Waveland or at the City-County Library in Bay St. Louis.

STACKS COVERED—Plastic sheeting protects books at the Waveland Library where rain water Friday morning came through the roof which was under repair. Librarian Prima Wusnack said damages will be partially covered by insurance.

Philip Terrell seeks aid in locating students for adult education

By BRENDA HEATHCOCK
 Hancock County has nearly 6,000 adults over the age 25 with less than a high school education, Philip Terrell, director of Hancock County's adult education programs, told members of the Community Services Planning Council Thursday. This figure represents nearly half the number of adults, age 25 or just one time we can help them, Terrell said. According to Terrell one of the best parts about the program is that it is offered to Hancock County residents free of charge. The program is funded approximately 88 percent by the federal government with a local contribution of 12 percent or about $1,000, he above in the entire county according to the 1980 census, he added. "In spite of these figures we only had 134 people in the adult education programs last year," Terrell added. "We need your help in locating students for the program," he said. "We feel if we can get them through the doors of the classroom said. Terrell also reported that the program would be registering new student during the second week of September. For more information call the Hancock County Superintendent's office, 467-4468.

Mr. Law Enforcement Officer:

The law enforcement officer and the citizen

Are you guilty? Have you ever been out with your family, saw a police officer, turned to your young child or children and said, "See that man, he'll arrest you if you're bad."

Immediately fear is struck in the heart of the child — fear of police officers. He will think that every time he does something wrong the law enforcement officer is just waiting there to grab him.

This is an unfortunate way to introduce your children to the police, because it handicaps not only the police but your child as well.

First, if your child is in trouble either by association or choice he will not go to the police for help. If your child is lost, scared and frightened he will not seek help from the police. If your child is hurt and in pain and doesn't know where to turn, he will not turn to the police for help.

Secondly, a police officer will not be able to approach your child to offer help if he/she is lost and scared, in trouble or pain, without your child trying to run and hide to get away from the police.

Why is this unfortunate? Only 15 percent of a police officer's time is spent dealing with criminal actions. When I say criminal actions that's everything from traffic citations to felony arrest of every kind; at least 85 percent of an officer's time is spent in public service and just simply helping folks.

Finding lost cats and dogs, to helping people find their way around town; giving directions to lost motorists to carrying emergency information to hard to find relatives.

Police officers are exactly what they say they are, public servants, and enjoy offering assistance to the public whenever they can.

At least most of them do. Sometimes you may find some who don't but eventually they are left by the wayside in the progress of time.

But if you happen to be one of the unfortunate who only meet an officer involved in the more famous but less desirable 15 percent of his occupation, please do not handicap your child to seek help or our ability to render it.

Next time turn to your child and say, "See that person, if you ever need help go ask one of them." The police are here to help you! Editor's note: To address questions to Mr. Leo, write in care of The Sea Coast Echo, P. O. Box 238, Bay St. Louis, MS 39520.

MISSED THE CAN—Several bags of garbage are viewed on the ground alongside an eight yard dumpster at the Pearlinton collection point by Hancock County Board of Supervisor President A.A. (Dolph) Kellar on Tuesday. Kellar reports this is a common occurrence and costs the taxpayers of Hancock County untold dollars each year.

EDGE OF CREEK—A large pile of garbage is visible from a road in the Bienville Community. The dumping is only a few yards from one of the county's many creeks which are lined with debris.

Staff photos

TRENCH TO STOP DUMPING—A large trench along a Flat Top Road had to be dug in order to stop illegal dumping. Hancock Supervisor A.A. (Dolph) Kellar said, this was the only way we could stop the people from dumping trash and garbage.

NEAR CREEK—All types of debris line the bluff of White Cypress Creek in Catahoula Community. Supervisor President A.A. (Dolph) Kellar says this type of illegal dumping is throughout the county.

ILLEGAL DUMP—This area the Whipple Road off Highway 604 near Pearlinton was cleared of all debris by Hancock Supervisor A.A. (Dolph) Kellar's crews. The cleanup has not stopped the illegal dumping in this buffer zone area.

Illegal dumping problem confronts county officials

DUMPING EVERYWHERE—Hancock County Board of Supervisor President A.A. (Dolph) Kellar surveys fresh, garbage and debris on an old family site in Logtown. The area was completely cleaned only a few weeks ago, Kellar said.

DEBRIS CREATES DRAINAGE PROBLEMS—This is a photo of a box culvert on the Lot-McCarty Road in Flat Top Community blocked with seafood debris which is infested. In addition to being an eye sore it also creates a drainage problem. (Staff photos by Ellis Cuevas).

BURNING IN DUMPSTERS—It is impossible for garbage dumpsters to be emptied when they are burning. Hancock County provides seven dumpsters for Pearlinton residents to dump their garbage. Each container shows damages caused by the materials being set on fire. It is illegal according to the Environmental Protection Agency to burn garbage.

Youth art on display

The Pass Christian Public Library, 111 Hiern Ave., Pass Christian is currently displaying arts and crafts by the young students of Bertha Giant's "Le Belle Art" Center in Pass Christian.

The works comprise three years' instruction since the opening of the Center in May of 1983 and are done in all painting media, starting with pencil, crayons, pen-and-ink, washes, charcoal, pastels, tempera, watercolors, acrylics, oils, collages and combinations of mixed media.

There are sculptures with clay, papier machie' and found objects, such as driftwood in combination with papier machie' or plaster of Paris.

The shape or structure of the driftwood, retrieved from our shores in Pass Christian, usually determines the object to be sculpted, be it animal, bird, fish, reptile, toy or pinata.

For instance, there is Puff, the Magic Dragon, who incidentally lived by the sea, there are pink pigs galore, a woodpecker, a trout, a whale, a large fish pinata, white bears, angels, an otter, etc.; in other words, the driftwood likeness remains as found while the rest of the body is completed in papier machie' or whatever medium, then painted and finished.

The children's ages range from seven to 14 years.

Those showing works at the Library are, Amelia Taylor, Andrew Newcomb, Chantel and Nikita Stewart, Tammy and April Poche, Eugene Schmitt, Kim Dedeaux, Leigh Ann and John Swider, Kiki Swanier, Erin Adam and William Hillyer.

The show may be viewed during library hours through the month of August.

School Lunch celebrates 40 years of nutrition

Celebrating one's 40th anniversary indicates a lifetime of commitment.

In a similar fashion, America is celebrating the 40th anniversary of the National School Lunch Program—a commitment made to the nation's children in 1946.

Through the school lunch program, our nation has improved the health and well-being of Americans through the marriage of government, school food service personnel and our most important resource—our children.

Although various efforts to feed the nation's children began in the U.S. as far back as the 1890's, a school lunch program never became a permanent reality until President Harry S. Truman signed the National School Lunch Act on June 4, 1946.

Any public school of high school grade level or under is eligible to participate, as is any nonprofit private school of the same grade levels whose average yearly tuition does not exceed $1,500 per student.

Today the lunch program is available in 95 percent of all public schools, with 62 percent of all public school children participating. In addition, 29 percent of all private schools participate.

That allows 92 percent of all the students in public and private schools to benefit from the program.

School lunch is big business. In fact, school lunch is one of the top four largest food service purveyors in the nation, in the same league with McDonald's, Burger King and Wendy's.

Cafeterias in about 90,000 schools all over the country serve more than 23 million customers daily. To help accomplish that feat, the U.S. Department of Agriculture provides $3.5 billion annually in cash and commodities to participating schools.

In return for commodity and cash assistance, schools that elect to participate must meet federal nutritional standards and must make available free or reduced-priced lunches to children who qualify, nationwide, about half the lunches are served free or reduced price.

Donated commodities make up about 15 percent of the food used. Schools buy the remainder of the food locally. USDA provides schools in the program with more than 50 different kinds of commodity foods, including chicken, ground beef, canned fruits, turkey, dairy products, fruit juices, vegetables, vegetable oil, rice and flour.

The variety of commodities schools receive from USDA depends on quantities available and market prices.

Over the years, the school lunch program has evolved along with changing taste preferences and nutrition awareness on the part of students and food service personnel.

Many schools have responded to the latest USDA and Health and Human Services dietary guidelines by developing menus that feature foods that are low in salt, sugar and fat but high in fiber.

According to school food service personnel, some of their most popular items include chili, burritos, tacos, pizza, fish and chips, chicken nuggets, make-your-own fruit and salad bars, pasta products and seafood platters.

A recent USDA evaluation disclosed that not only are school meals tastier and more attractive than in earlier years, they are also at least as nutritious—if not more so—than the lunches of the past.

In addition, USDA's study of the school lunch program reported that students who eat school lunches have more intakes of energy than students who do not.

Local schools across the country have done a remarkable job in fulfilling the purpose of the National School Lunch Act—to safeguard the health and well-being of the nation's children and to encourage the domestic consumption of nutritious agricultural commodities.

In Mississippi, over 374,000 students eat school lunch daily with 71 percent of those participating in the free and reduced-price category. Over 115,000 students each daily in the school breakfast program in Mississippi with 93 percent of those participating in the free and reduced-price category.

With greater nutrition awareness and the improving health of the nation's children, the golden years of the National School Lunch Program are approaching. With its 40th anniversary, the National School Lunch Program has come of age, but it is still dedicated to the young.

PROGRAM PLANNERS—Co-chairs Audrey Comeaux, left, and Joe Monti with committee chair Carol Martin, right, review plans for a new, three-year spiritual renewal program at Our Lady of the Gulf Parish.

OLG to institute three-year spiritual renewal program

Members of Our Lady of the Gulf Parish will participate in a spiritual renewal program called "Renew" beginning this fall.

"Renew is different in that it is a challenge to new spiritual growth for the parish and extends to people not usually involved with the parish and those who are presently not attending church," according to Joe Monti, co-chairman of Renew.

Leaders in the parish currently are undergoing training to lead the program over the next three years. For six weeks in the Fall and six weeks in Lent during the next three years, Our Lady of the Gulf will stress spiritual awareness and growth, in which people hear the Lord's call, respond to it and evangelize to secure justice for all, Monti explained.

"Renew" began in Newark, N.J. in 1978 and since then has spread to almost 100 Catholic dioceses throughout the United States as well as others in Canada, New Zealand, Australia, Central America and Europe.

The three-fold goal of the program includes teaching and witnessing to the word of God; developing a vibrant faith-community through small faith-sharing groups; and establishing justice information and action.

"Some people may have experienced renewal weekends which have brought members closer together. "Renew" is another more long-term renewal movement in the Catholic Church. The long-term nature of Renew's three-year process allows people to go beyond many of the intense weekend programs and concentrates on the renewal of the person for a lifetime commitment to Jesus Christ," Monti added.

Msgr. James McGough, OLG pastor, said the parish will also be using Renew as "a way of reaching out to the fallen away and unchurched in this area."

"Renew is an excellent way of doing that and it provides a non-threatening way of inviting people to come, share, pray and explore and grow in relationships with the Father and with one another," McGough said.

For further information of the "Renew" program call Our Lady of the Gulf rectory at 467-6509.

Clubs, Auxiliaries

Take Off Pounds Sensibly

TOPS No. 213 Pass Christian met Aug. 19 at the Pass Christian Library on Hiern Ave. The top loser of the week was Sech Green with a 6-pound loss.

A close second was Joan Lepine with a 5½-pound loss. The club had a total loss for the week of 30 pounds.

The club enrolled six new members at the Tuesday meeting. The club also welcomed three visitors. We welcome anyone interested in weight loss to come and visit. Weigh-ins are from 6 p.m. to 6:30 p.m.

The meeting is from 6:30 p.m. to 7:30 p.m. and is held every Tuesday at the Pass Christian Library. For more information, call Jeannie Livings at 452-9706 or Lois Van Dyke at 467-5162.

FIRST BIRTHDAY— Heather Nicole Dunhurst celebrated her first birthday with a circus and clown theme party at her Kiln home. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Dunhurst of Kiln and the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. George E. Burleson and Mr. and Mrs. Pete Dunhurst, also of Kiln.

SEVENTH BIRTHDAY— Lesley Leticia Ann Giovannone Asher celebrated her seventh birthday August 22 with a family gathering. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Leslie Asher and the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Asher and the late Annie Elizabeth Berry Tate, all of Bay St. Louis.

Thomas-Haas

Mrs. Ruby Thomas of Bay St. Louis announces the approaching marriage of her daughter, Lisa Thomas, to Kevin Haas, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Haas of Kiln. Miss Thomas is the daughter of the late Gustave Thomas.

The bride-elect is a graduate of Bay Senior High School and the University of Southern Mississippi where she was a member of Delta Delta Delta sorority. She received a bachelor of science degree in political science with teaching certification in social studies. She is employed with Our Lady Academy.

Mr. Haas is a graduate of Hancock North Central High School and Pearl River Junior College. He is employed with Mason-Chamberlain Inc.

Our Lady of the Gulf Catholic Church will be the setting for the September 6 marriage at three in the afternoon.

ETV Brief

USSR FASHIONS
"Comrades" presents two documentaries about the Soviet Union Tuesday, August 26—one on a familiar subject—the military—and the other on an unlikely subject when considering the USSR—fashion.

"Baltic Chic" can be seen at 9 followed at 10 by "Soldier Boy" on Mississippi ETV.

Fashion-conscious Estonians living on the Gulf of Finland are inspired by the Western styles of "Dallas" and "Dynasty," which are picked up from TV in Helsinki, 50 miles away. Krista Kajandu is chief designer of a fashion house in the town of Tallinn, the "Paris of the North."

While badly made, ill-fitting clothes are still a fact of life for most Soviet citizens, Kajandu is trying to raise standards as she demonstrates in "Baltic Chic."

A Western television first, "Soldier Boy" details a recruit's life inside a Soviet army barracks. It follows Valera Krylov, 18, as he gets his first uniform, endures weapons training, political education and boredom and worries about his worried parents, who know that in the next two years he may be fighting in Afghanistan.

"Comrades" is a part of the "Frontline" series with Judy Woodruff.

Military Mention

Microsurgery gives infertile women a second chance for childbirth

It used to be that sterilized women had almost no hope of ever becoming pregnant. But that was before medical technology developed the means of correcting their plight. The problem was that the previous surgical cure was never in scale with the situation.

A procedure called infertility microsurgery which can reverse tubal ligation and correct other problems in female reproductive organs is responsible for restoring fertility in certain women unable to bear children.

The innovative surgical procedure is now gaining wider acceptance in the medical community for its astounding success rate. As the result of one Mobile gynecologist's skills in performing infertility microsurgery, four local women who were previously sterilized are now looking forward to child delivery and motherhood.

Concerned with family planning, each of the four, Sharon Homan of Jackson, Ala.; Connie McRae of State Line, Miss.; Anita Williams of Deer Park, Ala.; and Cheri Hodge of Semmes, Ala. previously underwent an operation called "tubal ligation," a surgical procedure in which the Fallopian tubes are tied together to prevent further pregnancies. Now they can attest that modern medical techniques indeed give women a second chance at childbearing.

The four are patients of George B. Inge, MD, who practices obstetrics, gynecology and infertility microsurgery at the Mobile OB/GYN Center.

Inge, who received his technical training in Germany and Belgium medical universities, is assisted in the technique by a senior medical partner in the group, Dr. William O. Jeanson, who obtained his microsurgery training in Canada.

The two medical specialists handled each patient case according to the individual's particular problem. Homan is a mother of three boys. She underwent a tubal ligation in 1973 after the birth of her last child. Not long after the operation she decided that she wanted to have more children.

She and her husband met with Inge in September 1985 when he explained the procedure, which is performed with small, jeweler scaled instruments to handle the minute, delicate organs.

Sure of what they wanted, Homan opted for the operation, and was scheduled for early December surgery. By mid-February she was pregnant and is expecting a newborn baby in November.

The microsurgical technique in which Inge specializes gives couples improved chances to have more children. The Mobile physician is quick to point out that there are other reasons besides tubal ligation which cause female infertility.

Tubal infection including gonorrhea and chlamydia, often leaves its victims unable to become pregnant when the disease blocks the tubes and leaves damaging scar tissue obscuring the pelvic organs.

The use of a German made quadroscope instrument allows two physicians to work in tandem in the operation. The powerful microscope magnifies the small area under work from six to twenty times its actual size, giving the surgeons greater control in manipulating the tiny ducts and ovarian organs.

Surgical needles an eighth of an inch long and surgical thread as fine as baby's hair are used. The certain instruments are Teflon coated to prevent tearing of tissue.

Earlier surgical methods were far out of scale with the minute detail required of microsurgery, causing a drastically lower success rate.

Inge notes, "The effect was like tying your shoes under muddy water."

"Microsurgery can't be compared to major surgery like a hysterectomy or Caesarian section because there is a quicker recovery with the smaller, more precise technique," says Inge.

Two of his four patients now pregnant had only a one day hospital stay, while typically others may remain in the hospital three to four days after the operation.

State treasurer reports return on investment funds

State Treasurer Bill Cole reported that his office received $37,509,134 in interest income from the investment of state funds during fiscal year 1986.

A total of $22,169,461 has been received for the general fund, compared to $26,517,972 last fiscal year. Various special agency funds received $15,339,672.

"As a result of the lowest interest rates in over six years, interest earnings have declined. However, it is significant to note that this year's earnings is approximately $3 million above the estimate for the year," Cole said.

State funds are invested by the State Treasurer between the time they are collected and prior to the time they are needed for expenditure at a rate of interest tied by state law to the U.S. Treasury Bill rate.

"Projections are that rate will remain low and income from state investments will not be as high as in years past," Cole said.

Cole said the state's investment opportunities depend entirely upon the flow of funds and the amount of time that these funds remain available for investment.

"We will continue to try to maximize earnings by more effective cash management methods. There is every reason to be pleased with these results in view of the many serious financial problems confronted by the state and the low interest rates available for investments."

Harrison-Hancock Counties Legal Secretaries Association

State Representative Isiah Fredericks was guest speaker for the August 14 meeting of Harrison-Hancock Counties Legal Secretaries Association at Holiday Inn Beachfront, Gulfport.

He discussed the Mississippi Constitution and the need for rewriting it. Finance Chairman Brenda Alexander announced plans for the chapter's second annual co-ed softball tournament to be held August 23, beginning at 10 a.m., and August 24, beginning at 1 p.m. at the Bayou View Dixie Youth Fields, Gulfport.

Fifteen teams, comprised of attorneys, secretaries and spouses, will compete for trophies. Admission is free, a concession stand will be open, and the public is invited to attend.

August 22 is the deadline for registering for a basic course in legal procedures sponsored by Harrison-Hancock LSA. Classes will be held each Tuesday night, 6:30 to 9:30 p.m., beginning September 16 and extending through December 2, in the classroom at the Central Fire Station in downtown Gulfport.

The cost is $40 for chapter members and $75 for non-members. The course is of benefit to persons engaged in work of a legal nature and to members of the general public.

Those interested should contact Roberta Shelton, daytime phone 864-4011, Gulfport, for additional information.

Seminar Chairman Betty Lou Watkins announced plans for a chapter-sponsored seminar, "Cap on Non-Economic Damages," to be held September 20, 9:30 a.m. - 3:30 p.m., in the Merchants Bank Building, Gulfport.

Panel participants will be local attorneys Will Denton, Paul Minor, Bill Rainey, Jimmy Dukes and U.S. District Judge Walter J. Gex, III. Joe Meadows will serve as moderator during the question-and-answer session. The registration fee is $25 for chapter members and $35 for non-members. Members of the legal community and the general public are encouraged to attend.

Chapter Governor Glenda Downs encouraged members to attend the Mississippi Association's seminar and fall board meeting in Oxford, September 12-14. Debbie Butler was elected to serve as alternate governor for the Oxford meeting.

Legal Education Chairman Gloria Benedict gave a quiz on various aspects of the Mississippi Constitution and branches of the state government.

Members desiring to study for the professional legal secretary (PLS) examination meet each Monday at 5:30 p.m. in the law offices of White & Morse, Gulfport. Kathy Allen may be contacted during the daytime at 863-9821 for additional information.

New members Kelly McCloskey and Kathy Grisham were initiated by President Susan Bailey. Cay Tittle was appointed to chair day-in-court activities.

The next dinner meeting of Harrison-Hancock LSA will be Sept. 11, 6:30 p.m., at the Holiday Inn Beachfront, Gulfport. Reservations may be made by calling Marea Cox, 863-2762 (daytime), Gulfport.
